Lupica wrote a glowing book, complete with notes to his child and just an amazing level of head in the sand nonsense and yet he was one of the first to crucify Bonds.

On Aristotle Categories (Ancient Commentators on Aristotle)

If you had read my article on Velasquez, I cannot but say that you have made an unfair use of it, in quoting a detached sentence, which, read with the context, bears exactly the opposite sense from that you have quoted it as bearing. The underlying premise is that the general dialectic of form and matter can provide substantial insights into how the normative orders of mind are constituted by their pre-mental, natural orders and the play of their forces.

Three of a Kind Desire

Act radically, openly and fast The time when innovation activity could be planned technology push is long gone: this was a characteristic of the development of major technologies in the past nuclear power stations, telephone networks, industrial automation. What could have been a poignant retelling of "The Little Mermaid" turned into a sappy mess with a lot of unfinished ideas.
